

Moving overseas can be confusing and difficult. Choosing the right moving company is a critical task in overseas moving. Each country has special conditions and requirements for people moving abroad and our Support Team will work with you to make your international move safe and easy. From the minute you begin to plan your move to the day your belongings arrive at your new home, ALPHA MOVE tailors a solution to complete your move including every special detail, flawlessly.

OCEAN FREIGHT

Ocean Freight is the most cost effective mode of transport for your goods -- especially large volume shipments. With our strategic alliances we offer an expansive network of locations and ocean freight experience to provide you a full array of global freight and transportation services to manage your relocation. We can handle almost any size shipment, from less-than-container loads (LCL) to full container loads (FCL). As a forwarder, we book your cargo with one of the world's leading Non-Vessel Operating Common Carriers (NVOCC), arrange pickup and delivery of your shipment, and manage shipping documentation as well as customs clearance, regardless of point of destination or carrier.

CONTAINER SIZES

Containers for shipping household goods come in several sizes and designs. The below listed details are for guidance only and do not guarantee availability of any type of container for any particular route. Although the dimensions are representative of the international standards, there may be slight variations for some containers, as well as limitations regarding acceptance in certain locations. Please check with us for size and availability before making any crucial decisions.
