You're actually making two moves, out and in. Moving long distance or from country to country can be because of the time factor the most stressful type of moving. If you are moving outside of the EU, you have to be informed of a variety of customs procedures and required documentation well in advance of the moving date, so that these can be arranged conveniently.

Packing your whole life into a truck and moving to another country requires professional movers with Intra-European experience. Our long distance and cross country specialists offer high quality professional moving services with attention to every detail. Many long distance moves require moving storage and packing services as well as disassembly of furniture and beds. Moving with ALPHA MOVE will make your relocation smooth and simple.

ALPHA MOVE has an affiliated fleet of air-ride trucks regularly moving both household and commercial goods across the nation. Our tractor-trailer drivers and movers are carefully selected and complete extensive courses in safe driving practices and proper moving procedures. Our agents remain in constant contact with our headquarters to keep you informed of your moving progress at any point. We are precise about timing our deliveries and we offer several moving options. For major moves with a large amount of property, you can relocate with the exclusive use of a truck that is loaded, moved and unloaded with the same moving crew. For moving special items or a smaller amount of property, you can join one of our regularly scheduled trips.
